How the Board of Police Commissioners Investigates Complaints Against DPD

The City Charter makes the Board responsible for investigating complaints about police misconduct through its Chief Investigator and Office of the Chief Investigator (OCI). The office handles the process for receiving and investigating citizen complaints about non-criminal misconduct. All OCI staff members are civilian employees.

In its consent decree with the City of Detroit, the U.S. Department of Justice defined the term misconduct as any conduct by a DPD employee that violates DPD policy or the law. The Justice Department defined the term complaint as an allegation from any source of any misconduct by DPD personnel. OCI only investigates non-criminal complaints. OCI must forward complaints about possible illegal or criminal acts to DPD Professional Standards.

If you have a concern about policy violations or misconduct by any Detroit Police Department employee, you have the right to file a complaint.

TYPES OF Complaint Findings

SUSTAINED

Where the preponderance of the evidence shows that the alleged conduct did occur and the actions of the employee(s) violated Detroit Police Department policies, procedures, or training.

INCONCLUSIVE/NOT SUSTAINED

Where there are insufficient facts to decide whether the alleged misconduct occurred.

EXONERATED

Where the preponderance of the evidence shows that the alleged conduct did occur, but did not violate Detroit Police Department policies, procedures or training.

UNFOUNDED

Where the investigation revealed no facts to support that the incident complained of actually occurred.

OCI staff will contact you once you have submitted your complaint form. The form can be hand delivered, mailed or faxed to the OCI.

If you decide to speak with someone at a precinct, you will be referred to a supervisor and provided with a citizen complaint number. The precinct is required to forward all citizen complaints to the OCI for investigation. Within seven days of receiving the complaint, the OCI will mail you a copy of the Citizen Complaint Form that you filed.

You will receive information periodically regarding the status of your complaint until the investigation is completed, which can take up to 90 days. The findings are then reviewed and approved by a member of the Board of Police Commissioners. After approval, OCI notifies you in writing of the investigative findings.
